

At Key Stage 3:

Students follow schemes of work in the following subjects:

Core subjects:

English, literacy, mathematics, personal and social development and science

Foundation subjects:

art, food technology, humanities, information and communication technology (ICT), music, physical education (PE) which includes dance and swimming and religious education (RE)

Students also follow courses in 'learning to learn'. 'Learning to learn' is essentially about the process of learning. The learning to learn programme is basically designed to help students learn how to learn more effectively.

Students in Key Stage 3 are taught in mixed ability pastoral groups.
